

Connections | June 2025

Managing your personal wealth isn't just about the dollars and cents. It's about connecting with what matters to you. Across all generations from life changes through life stages, Mesirow is here to help. That's why every quarter we write content on topics that we hope are relevant and insightful for you.

Rethinking retirement: Myths that could derail your future plans

Experience is often a good teacher. However, when approaching retirement, watching the path of others before you may not provide adequate guidance. Retirement has changed greatly in recent decades and yours may be different from what your parents and grandparents experienced. As a result, your preparation and expectations may need to change to be ready for a 21st century retirement.

Leaving your IRA to a Charitable Remainder Unitrust can benefit your heirs and your preferred charity

If you have substantial assets in your IRA (or other qualified plan account), leaving this asset to your children or other family members can create many headaches. One solution to consider is leaving your IRA to a testamentary Charitable Remainder Unitrust (CRUT) for the benefit of your heirs and, ultimately, your preferred charity.

Wedding planning: Critical financial tips

It's a fact; couples in the US are marrying later in life, especially college educated professionals. As a result, both partners have often begun to save, invest and accumulate assets. Premarital financial planning has therefore become extremely important.

And, the awkward question must be asked: “How can we protect our assets when entering into marriage without tainting the romance of engagement?”
